Don't fail to see the Ober-Ammergau Passion Play at the Catholic church next Monday evening. Ordinances Nos. 67 and 68, relative to tramps and houses of ill fame, will be found in this issue of THE STAR. Annie Vislosky, a thirteen-year-old girl of Big Soldier, died Sunday and was buried in the Catholic cemetery yesterday forenoon. Scarlet fever was the cause of death. William T. Cox was in Brookville yesterday attending a meeting of directors of Summerville Telephone Co. A dividend of 5 per cent. was declared on all stock paid up to January 1, 1900. Mention was made in THE STAR last week that L. G. Liddle, one of our hardware merchants, had been called to Youngstown, Ohio, by the serious illness of his mother. She died Thursday and was buried Sunday. Any person desiring holy or mistletoe for holiday decorations can secure same by leaving their order at Charles S. Kirchartz's store or with Arthur Reynolds. It will be delivered to place of business or residence. Miss Grace E. Beck, after a thorough course of instruction at Chamberlain Institute and Philadelphia Musical Academy, will receive a limited number of pupils in vocal and instrumental music. Residence, Grant street. Herman Smith, of Reading, who had charge of a crew of men working on the new reservoir at Driftwood, was thawing out five sticks of dynamite Thursday morning when the dynamite exploded, blowing Smith's body into pieces. The Woman's Relief Corps of this place have a near date for presenting to the public a popular entertainment, "The Female Minstrels." The Corps has always given the best of home talent shows and no doubt in this will keep the reputation it has gained. Rev. T. C. McKelvey, an evangelist of New York, is holding special services in the United Presbyterian church in Brookville this week. It is a union meeting and the Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist, Evangelical and Lutheran churches are joining in these services. C. E. Humphrey, who has been working on the farm of his brother-in-law, O. H. Broadhead, near Rathmel, for about five years, returned to the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Humphrey, at Beaver, Pa., last Friday to accept a position as motorman on the Beaver street car line. There was a pleasant family re-union at Robert Miles' last Tuesday. It was the sixty-ninth birthday of Mrs. Miles. There were present from out of town their daughter, Mrs. Joseph Reynolds, of Beldin, Ohio; their son, Samuel and wife, of Albion; Mrs. Miles' sisters, Mrs. S. K. and Hannah Speers, of DuBois. Invitations are out for the wedding of Frank Penrose Alexander, assistant cashier of the Seeley, Alexander & Co. bank of Reynoldsville, and Miss Julia Corolla Wilson, daughter of Dr. C. A. Wilson, of DuBois. The wedding takes place at the residence of Dr. Wilson in DuBois at high noon on Thanksgiving Day, November 29th. We understand that a hospital large enough to accommodate 12 people is being opened in connection with the Memorial Home at Brookville. What was used as a dancing pavilion when the building was run as a hotel, before purchased for a Memorial Home, is being converted into a hospital. We have been informed, not officially however, that it is the intention to open the hospital Thanksgiving Day. Adone Pedretti, a loom fixer, who came from Paterson, N. J., to Reynoldsville nine months ago, has resigned his position with the American Silk Company at this place and will move back to Paterson in a few days. Mr. Pedretti, who is an Italian, is an expert loom fixer. Mrs. Marie Pedretti worked in the mill as a weaver. Mr. Pedretti and wife both understand the silk work thoroughly, as they have had years of experience. They learned the work in Italy. Sunday afternoon the funeral of little Clarence Holmes, whose tragic death was described in the Evening Express Saturday, was held at the home of the parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Holmes, on Hubert street. The little child, who was but eighteen months old, went to the stove while his mother was outside the door for a few moments, and his clothing caught fire. In a moment his garments were all ablaze and when his mother came in he was so badly burned that he died a few hours later.—DuBois Courier. We are getting, and going to sell, a full car load of the famous Prizer stoves, ranges and heaters, the very showiest and best stove made. These we fully guarantee in every respect. Any one purchasing and finding them not as represented will have their money refunded. We will sell you a fine, big, six-hold range complete for $19.00 to $21.00, guaranteed to be 100 lbs. heavier than any other range on the market. Heating stoves and cook stoves at prices to suit the times. Call and examine the goods and see for yourself. Opp. Postoffice. C. R. HALL.

Thud Series Matured. The 3d series in the Reynoldsville Building and Loan Association matured last month. Challenged DuBois High School. The Reynoldsville High School has sent a challenge to the DuBois high school to contest in a joint program consisting of music, oration, debate and declamation. Union Thanksgiving Services. Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the M. E. church on Thursday of next week. Rev. A. J. Meek, Ph. D., pastor of Baptist church, will preach the sermon. Stag Surprise Party. About twenty gentlemen friends of John Ross, of Main street, gave him a birthday surprise party last Friday evening. Mrs. Ross knew of the party and had elegant refreshments prepared for the gentlemen, but John was given a complete surprise. Two rocking chairs were the presents from those who attended party. Face and Hand Burned. Walter Barr, porter at Hotel McConnell, had his face and right hand badly burned Sunday morning. The fire in furnace at hotel had been banked Saturday night and when Barr looked in furnace Sunday morning he thought the fire was out, but it was not, and when he punched a hole through the top the fire puffed out with above results. Temperance Day. According to a resolution passed by the last general conference of the M. E. church, next Sunday will be observed as temperance day in all the churches of that denomination in the country. In the morning Rev. Perry A. Reno, pastor of the M. E. church at this place, will preach a special temperance sermon and a special program, consisting of songs and recitations will be given in the evening. Co-operative Movement. The pastors and Sunday school superintendents of the Presbyterian, Baptist and M. E. churches met at the residence of W. S. Stone Monday evening and decided to adopt the plan for co-operative work in visiting every family in town to invite those not now identified with Sunday school and church to become so. Elsewhere in this issue will be found an article under the heading, "A Great Sunday School Undertaking." A Good Show. Frank S. Davidson, the comedian, and his company are filling a three-night engagement at the Reynolds opera house. Monday night this company played "Days of '98," last night, "Old Farmer Hopkins," and to-night will play, "The Folks Up Willow Creek." Special scenery is carried for each of the plays and the company, is first-class, strictly up-to-date, and has made a decidedly hit with the theatre-going people of Reynoldsville. The orchestra is exceptionally fine. Ober-Ammergau Passion Play. The world-famed Ober-Ammergau Passion Play of 1900 will be reproduced by life-like moving pictures of the cinematograph at the Catholic church in this place Monday evening, Nov. 26th. An interesting and instructive lecture on the play will be given by Prof. Kilrain. Admission 25 and 35 cents. The Philadelphia Ledger says of the play: "There was something so unearthly, so fascinating, so extraordinary in the strange, silent pictures with their moving yet voiceless crowds, that the absence of flesh and blood only made the conception more spiritual and relieved it from any touch of irreverence." Stole a Silk Skirt Also. Last Saturday morning when Miss Netta Coax was getting ready to attend the local institute at Sykesville she discovered that her silk skirt was missing and as the skirt hung in the room in which Ed. Ellis had slept, who stole the gold watch, mention of which was made in THE STAR last week, the family supposed Ellis had taken the skirt. Acting on that supposition, Miss Netta went to Brookville and proceeded to the jail and gained an interview with Ellis. He at first flatly denied taking the skirt, but after obtaining a promise that nothing further would be done if the skirt was returned, he produced the skirt, having it along with him nicely packed away with his clothes in his cell. New Schedule. Mention was made in the last week's issue of THE STAR that a new schedule would go into effect on Low Grade Division on Sunday, November 25th, and that the most radical changes would be in the right of way of trains and in numbering of trains. There will be slight changes in the time of passenger trains at Reynoldsville. The west-bound morning train will arrive at usual time, 6:47, and the eastbound will arrive seven minutes later, 6:54. The train now due at 8:38 a. m. will be five minutes earlier; train due at 11:27 a. m. will be five minutes later; train due at 1:00 p. m., will be eight minutes earlier, making it due here at 12:52. There will be a change of one or two minutes in some of the other trains. Sweet-Orr's union-made clothing at Millirens.

COURT NEWS. The Criminals Who Were Found Guilty Last Week Will be Sentenced To-day. The Jefferson county criminal court for November term was held in Brookville last week and all the cases on the calendar were disposed of but the Shaffer-Geer shooting case from Cool Spring, and that was heard the first of this week. There were forty-four cases on the calendar for the term, a number of which we publish below. There were a dozen or more F. and B. cases and a number of small cases we do not include in the court news this week: John Stahley, assault and battery. Not guilty, but to pay half the costs. Colozero Brancato, assault; guilty. Charles Henry, burglary; plead guilty. Simon Burkett and Thomas Burkett, throwing down fences; guilty; each one to pay $1.00 fine and costs. Henry Hoch, assault with intent to kill, settled. Clark McGregor, robbery; guilty. C. W. Hannold, assault and battery; guilty. Henry Love, assault with intent to kill; guilty of assault and battery. Mrs. Lew Scott, assault and battery; guilty. Sentenced to pay $25.00 fine and costs. Clyde Shirey, assault and battery with intent to kill; guilty of assault and battery. Sentenced to pay $50.00 fine and costs. John Carberry and Solomon Burkhouse, refusing to perform certain duties as overseers poor. Sentence suspended on condition that defendants pay the costs and also take charge of the pauper, Andrew Mowery, and provide for him according to law. John Yanosoz, larceny; not guilty. Amos Michaels, obstructing highway not guilty but to pay costs and prosecutor to costs. Frank Sparkling, assault and battery; not guilty; plaintiff to pay the costs. Thompson Shaffer, assault with intent to kill; prosecutor G. W. Geer, of Cool Spring. This case was taken up Monday forenoon and was not finished when court adjourned last evening. Died in North Carolina. Mrs. Sarah Adel Dixon, wife of Melvin V. Dixon, died in Kinston, North Carolina, November 16, 1900. The deceased was born in the village of Friendship, N. Y., April 7, 1851, and moved with her parents, Ira L. Beebe and wife, to the present site of the village of Sandy Valley, where the early part of her life was spent on the farm now owned by W. T. Cox. She was married to Melvin V. Dixon, April 12, 1871, at Luthersburg. The twenty years following this marriage the family spent at Brookville and vicinity, as Mr. Dixon was engaged as a mill man in the manufacture of lumber. In 1890 Mr. Dixon and family moved to Graham, Va., where they spent four years and then removed to North Carolina, where Mrs. Dixon died. The deceased united with the M. E. church of Brookville in 1887, under the pastorate of the Rev. John Lasher and remained a consistent member of this church until after removing to Virginia, where she united with the Presbyterian church of Graham and remained in membership until the time of her death. About two years before the time of her death she joined the ladies' organization of the Presbyterian church in the interest of church extension. She was an active and wide-awake worker whenever necessity called for the sympathetic hand. She leaves a loving husband, son and daughter, with an aged father, three brothers and three sisters to mourn her loss. She was brought to the old home-stead at Sandy Valley Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon interment was made in the family burying ground, after funeral service conducted by Rev. W. Frank Reber, pastor of the Presbyterian church of Reynoldsville. She was a loving wife, a kind mother, and a friend of all who knew her. She will be missed, but fond remembrance will carry her noble life as an example to others. A FRIEND. The Free Reading Room. Our new reading room on Fifth street, next Dr. Neal's office, is well patronized. It is open regularly from 6.30 to 10.00 p. m. each week day. The young men find the tables well supplied with choice literature and a number of books. Among the periodicals may be found Review of Reviews, Cosmopolitan, Munsey, McClure, Pearson, Independent, Public Opinion, Harper's Weekly, Youth's Companion, two Pittsburg and one Philadelphia dailies. This by no means exhausts the list. There are few rules but important ones. Perfect order is expected and the use of tobacco prohibited. Every young man who is willing to observe these requirements has a cordial invitation to come to the room and enjoy its comforts. There will be a business meeting of the association at the room on Monday evening, Nov. 26th, at 8.30. An invitation is extended to all who desire to become members. Low prices, good fits, first-class work at John Flynn's tailor shop. The most complete line of overshoes in town at Robinson's. I bought my overcoat at Millirens; it is right, too.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING. Henry Earl Swift and Miss Christina Mae Barclay the Happy Couple. On Wednesday, November 14, 1900, at 7.30 p. m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Barclay, on Jackson street, their youngest daughter, Miss Christina Mae, and Henry Earl Swift, joined hearts and hands for life. It was the prettiest home wedding that has taken place in Reynoldsville for many a day. Promptly at 7.30, while Miss Frances King was playing a wedding march, the bridal party entered the parlor, preceded by the ribbon girls, Misses Ethelyn Winslow and Golda King. A laurel arch, trimmed with chrysanthemums, had been erected in one corner of parlor and under this arch Rev. Perry A. Reno, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, performed the ceremony that made Mr. Swift and Miss Barclay man and wife. About seventy-five guests were present to extend well wishes and witness the event. The bride was attired in a beautiful white organza, trimmed with lace and carried bride's roses. She looked handsome, to say the least. The groom wore the conventional black. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Jessie Barclay, who was dressed in white and the groom by Eugene McGrail. After the ceremony and congratulations the guests were served with an elegant and bountiful repast. Seven young men, wearing spotless white coats, acted as waiters and they performed the work like professionals. They were Robert Williams, Jarvis Williams, John Barclay, Arthur Barclay, Fred Wiley, James Delaney and John Winslow. The bride, who is a handsome young lady, is held in high esteem by all who know her. The groom, an electrician who came to this place from Connecticut about a year ago, is from an old and highly respected family of the "Freestone State." The groom's present to his bride was a magnificent diamond ring and a large amethyst pin, both heir-looms. The presents from guests were beautiful and useful, consisting of cut glass, china, silverware, linens, chairs, rugs, bric-a-brac, &c. A house on Hill street was already furnished for their occupancy, and about 10.45 they were driven to their own home in a carriage. A number of young guests followed after. They had only been in their home a short time when they were serenaded by a number of young men from Hotel Imperial, where Mr. Swift had been boarding. A bass drum, tenor drum, cornet, sleigh bells and a dinner bell were the musical instruments used by the serenaders. Profs. Lenker and Leavenworth, Dr. Means, Will Herpel, W. W. Wiley, A. T. McClure, James Evans and Fred Wiley were conspicuous in the serenading band. The out of town people who attended the wedding were: John D. Lowther and wife and daughter, Miss Cora, of Rimersburg, W. W. Lowther and wife and Mrs. Jessie Lowther of Mt. Pleasant, Thomas S. Lowther and family, of Helvetia, and Carl Schuman, of Greensburg. We clip the following from the New Haven (Conn.) Register: "Still another marriage of local interest for which cards have been received here is that of Henry Earl Swift and Miss Christina Mae, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Barclay, of Reynoldsville, Pa., on Wednesday evening, November 14. "Mr. Swift, who is now superintendent of the electric light plant in Reynoldsville, is a Bradford boy and a descendant from one of the oldest families. His mother, Angelina Plant, will long be remembered for her beauty and distinguished presence. He, though still a very young man, has become an expert electrician. His bride-elect is a charming young lady. Their many friends wish for them that the present which is so full of promise may continue through life." Marriage Licenses. The following marriage licenses were issued the past week by John D. Evans, Clerk of Courts of Jefferson county: John Drefols and Mary Bodnovic, both of Crenshaw. John A. Miller, of Big Run, and Winifred C. Saltzman, of Renovo. Bert C. Harrigan and Sadie M. Harriger, both of Reidsburg, Clarion county. Mike Gallo, of Florence, and Mary Thomas, of DeLancey. Harry B. Dale, of Clearfield, and Effie Merritt, of Reynoldsville. V. V. Wonderling and Flora Watt, both of Oliver township. William H. Peace, of Gaskill township, Jefferson county, and Lizzie M. Nichols, of McGees Mills, Clearfield county. Frank B. McCawley, of Saltsburg, and Alice May Snyder, of Punxsutawney. Card of Thanks. We are very thankful to the friends and neighbors who were so kind and helpful to us after the death of our husband and father. MRS. DAVID LANE AND FAMILY. Card of Thanks. We are very thankful to the friends who were so kind and helpful after the death of our daughter and sister, Mrs. Melvin V. Dixon. IRA L. BEEBE AND FAMILY. For Sale or Rent. Our property and stock for sale, or will sell stock and rent the rooms. J. C. KING & CO. Celery, cranberries and oysters at Barto's.

At the battle of Santiago during the war with Spain, Mr. Jones was on the battleship Iowa. He but recently landed at San Francisco from the Philippines. Trip to China. Frank R. Roberson, the insatiable traveler who has visited China three times within the last twelve years, will entertain the people at Assembly hall Friday evening with some of the finest views that modern science knows how to produce. These will not be mere globe trotters snap shot impressions that impress no one, but will be first-class photographs of value, supplemented with information out of the ordinary, told in a most agreeable manner. Many types of the various native races in their quaint costumes and scenes of typical Chinese life will be shown. There is no other lecture on China to compare with it in its fullness of just the kind of information needed in order to enable the reader to have his own intelligent judgment as to the merits of the whole case and the probabilities as to the future. Mr. Roberson's reputation, his ability to entertain and interest, to picture life and people brightly in detail is well established. You will find this lecture as fascinating as a personal trip to China, singularly vivid and real. Tickets on sale at Stoke's drug store. Big goat Salvation Army Hall Monday night, Nov. 26th, 1900. A junior's demonstration and beautiful music and singing by Ensign Wall, of Buffalo, N. Y. All come. CAPTAIN HERMAN, In Charge.
